Thank you for your interest in the position of Head of Art at the Royal Grammar School.

The Royal Grammar School comprises an independent senior (RGS) and preparatory boys' (RGSP) day school. The RGS senior school has 975 students aged 11 to 18, more than a quarter of whom are in the Sixth Form and the prep school has 315 pupils aged 3 to 11. RGS is situated in the heart of the historic town of Guildford, a flourishing and vibrant place to work.

The RGS has been at the educational heart of Guildford for five centuries. Founded in 1509, our Royal charter was granted by King Edward VI in 1552 and our Tudor buildings are still used by the School. Across the road from the Tudor building is the main building: facilities are excellent with investment into refurbishment and rebuilding continuing on an on-going basis.

Our boys are naturally able and inquisitive and a delight to teach. Our expectations of the boys are high. The academic standards in the School are excellent; the curriculum is enriched by an extensive extra-curricular programme in which all academic staff are expected to participate. Sports and the Arts are an important element in School life.

We are able to be of financial assistance, through bursaries, to help 7% of RGS boys whose families cannot afford the fees. This preserves an essential feature of the grammar school ethos enabling bright local boys to benefit from a RGS education. My ambition for the future is full merit-based open access: that every bright boy who earns his place can take it up, irrespective of his family's financial circumstances.

Please take a look at the RGS website for more details and the twitter feed which provides up to the minute information about the boys' current activities. Both sites will give you an understanding of our School, its ethos, atmosphere and most importantly our community.

The RGS is an exciting place in which to be a member of staff; I look forward to receiving an application from you.

HEADMASTER

ROYAL GRAMMAR SCHOOL

Around 125 boys start in the First Form at age eleven via the RGS Entrance Examination; another 25 arrive in the Third Form having additionally taken either the Common Academic Scholarship Examinations or Common Entrance. A few boys join the Lower Sixth from other schools. Boys come to the RGS from around 140 different schools in Surrey and the neighbouring home counties.

The RGS curriculum aims to combine breadth with balance. In the first three years all boys study a broad range of subjects which encompasses the full range of humanities, Latin and aesthetic/practical disciplines, in addition to the core of Mathematics, English, the three sciences and a Modern Language. Pupils in the First and Second Form choose on entry to study either French or Spanish, with the opportunity to select either a second modern language (from French, Spanish or German) or a second classical language (Greek) in the Third Form.

In the Fourth and Fifth Forms all boys sit ten GCSE subjects which must include English Language, English Literature, a Modern Foreign Language, Mathematics, three separate sciences and a humanities subject. The majority of specifications followed lead to iGCSE qualifications. Although the School is non-denominational, it has a strong Christian spirit and all boys study Religious Education. There also exists in the Third, Fourth and Fifth Forms, a Tutor Period during which boys study Information Technology, Problem Solving, First Aid, Health Education and Study Skills. It is also during this time that initial careers and higher education guidance is given which then continues throughout the boys' time at the School.

In the Sixth Form, all boys study four subjects in the Lower Sixth and then continue with three or four subjects to A Level in the Upper Sixth, together with a range of General Studies courses which are co-educational, being organised jointly with Guildford High School. Although the School does not offer the EPQ, there are significant opportunities for boys to engage with wider, independent research including the School's in-house Independent Learning Assignment. Almost all RGS boys go on to degree courses, with 20 – 25% regularly gaining admission to Cambridge or Oxford and the majority of the remainder going on to one of Durham, Imperial, Exeter, Nottingham, Warwick, Bath, UCL, Bristol, Birmingham or Leeds.

All boys are encouraged to engage in independent research and activities throughout their time in the School via our Scholarship for all programme. Whilst not curricular, all staff are encouraged to engage with, and support, this provision as their experience and expertise enables.

All members of the teaching staff help with co- and extra-curricular activities, of which there is an impressively wide range. Music, Art and Drama all flourish with performances, exhibitions and workshops. There is a well-equipped auditorium, a large Art School and a purpose built Music Department. We have a very active clubs and societies programme that takes place before, during and after school each day. We run a weekly Monday Period 8 activity programme where in the Fourth Form we have a tri-service CCF contingent and a non-uniformed outdoor activity group on offer, with the provision expanding to include a variety of activities including a volunteering group, sports leadership, mountain biking, lifesaving, surfing, technical theatre and climbing to name a few. All the Third Form take part in our curricular, weekly expedition and adventure programme, EXAD. We have five Field Days per year and also offer overseas expeditions, a large Duke of Edinburgh's Award Programme and numerous sports tours.

The main sports are rugby, hockey and cricket which are played at the RGS sports ground at Bradstone Brook, some three miles from the School between Shalford and Chilworth, or at other locations nearby. The School is strong in other sports; RGS athletes and swimmers regularly represent the local district, while RGS boys have recently won national championships in judo, sailing, rowing, shooting and cross-country. The School's sports facilities on site have enabled a significant expansion of sporting activity and opportunity.

We nurture an atmosphere of mutual respect between all members of our community, and foster self-respect and self-esteem in terms of physical health, emotional maturity and personal well-being, while establishing lasting friendships in a positive, happy environment.

Collaboration

We work closely with others for mutual enrichment, and encourage a spirit of generosity and service, a sense of perspective, and a firm belief that we can work in partnership with others, locally and internationally, to make a difference and have a positive impact on society.

THE ART DEPARTMENT

Art is highly valued at the RGS and the Art School is in a splendid location behind the original Sixteenth Century school building, which itself is on the High Street in Guildford. The building comprises of seven main studios/rooms in a building which was originally two science laboratories, the first in Surrey and hence listed, to which was added our current purpose-built Art School. There are two general purpose 'junior' studios, a Sixth-Form studio, a GCSE studio, a Digital Media Suite, a Sixth Form Digital Media Suite and library, a Sculpture Studio, Departmental base and a Gallery space. The new parts of the building were designed to have North light and are bright and airy.

All RGS pupils are taught Art for a double period each week (80 minutes in total) in the First, Second and Third Forms (Years Seven, Eight and Nine) after which they may opt to study Fine Art (unendorsed) at GCSE (OCR) in two double periods a week (a period is 40 minutes). Third Form classes (Year Nine) are divided into two groups to improve their experience.

Presently the department consists of one full-time and three part-time members of the teaching staff, one of whom also teaches in the Design Technology department. We also have a full-time Art Technician.

Various clubs run within the department, including Sculpture, Photography, Junior Art Club and an after school 'Clinic' for exam students.

There is an annual summer exhibition of A Level and GCSE work, with a well-attended Private View evening. There is also an annual junior competition. There is an Art Appreciation Society as part of the School's Monday Period 8 activity menu and this group visits galleries and exhibitions on Field Days, which occur five times in the year. There are GCSE visits to the National Gallery and Tate Modern as part of the course and Sixth Formers are encouraged to visit exhibitions tailored to their choice of study.

We are proactively committed to creating a diverse staff body, which reflects the community that we teach. At the RGS we value diversity and inclusion; we want to attract the best people for the roles available. This is regardless of age, ethnicity, sexual orientation, gender, disability, socioeconomic status or religious beliefs.

If you feel this role is of interest to you, but would like to ask further questions or discuss the role before making an application, please email the Head of Department, Mr Rozier at anr@rgsg.co.uk.
